Integrity is a key characteristic of a leader and works in conjunction with additional qualities. Conversely, a person without integrity can also be easily spotted, like a thief on a bright sunny day. Integrity qualifies. Demonstrating integrity also involves acting with courage, vision and communication. Although it is not the intent of people with integrity to boast of the wonderful qualities that they have, these cannot be overlooked because such people will always stand out, whether it is by choice or not. Additional characteristics of integrity relate to honesty, loyalty, respect, faith, compassion and dedication.
